Weather Changes Show Remarkable Variation

From 40 Below Zero to 53 Above is Record of the Past Week in Southern Alberta

Last week people who have lived here for many years were commenting on it being the coldest spell they had experienced. This week they are also experiencing what they claim is the longest period of a Chinook wind to extend over Alberta. In less than a week the temperature varied from 40 degrees below zero to 53 above, a difference of 93 degrees. The result has been that snow has rapidly disappeared, creeks are running, and skating and curling enthusiasts are turning their eyes eastward every morning to see if colder weather is in store. Doubtless it will come, as the temperature changes very quickly in Alberta.

The local skating and curling rink has been closed this week, though the ice is still in fair shape, with a covering of water on most of the surface. With the arrival of cold weather it will soon be in shape again for the regular round of winter sports.

Alberta Second Coal Production

OTTAWA.—Up until the end of October, 1927, Canadian coal mines had produced 13,788,792 tons of coal and Nova Scotia's share was 6,873,988 tons, or 43 per cent. This is shown in a report issued Thursday by the department of trade and commerce. Alberta was a close second with 5,228,144 tons, or 38 per cent, while British Columbia contributed 16 per cent, 2,204,538 tons. The total amount is an increase of slightly over one million tons in comparison with the ten months' period of 1926.

The number of men employed in the coal industry of Canada is 29,004 divided between 6,811 surface men, and 22,393 underground. Nova Scotia mines employ 13,402 persons; Alberta, 9,469, and British Columbia, 4,908. Saskatchewan has 648, and New Brunswick 582.

SUCCESSFUL AUTOMOBILE SALESMAN

SHO MOTON COMPANY, LTD.
1001 - 22 AVENUE, W. C.

Oshawa, Ont. Nov.—Hirojo Umetsu, who is believed to be the only Japanese automobile salesman in Canada, has just proved that he can sell more motor cars than a good many of the Anglo-Saxon members of his chosen profession.

Mr. Umetsu, who, with a certain lack of originality is universally nicknamed "Charlie", has been for the past four years a popular member of the sales staff of Reggs Brothers, Chevrolet dealers in Vancouver. In the Canada wide Chevrolet sales contest which has just concluded, he won one of the special prizes given for exceeding his sales quota, thus placing himself in the front rank of Canadian automobile salesmen.

Charlie's activity may be due in part to the fact that, as he puts it, he "has to buy the baby shoes." For beside being a crack salesman he is a married man and the proud father of a baby boy, who, even to Anglo-Saxon eyes, grows more like his father every day.

The average person would have considerable difficulty reading the circulars and letters which Charlie's "prospects" receive from him and peruse with interest; for they are printed in strange characters—deplorable to those who know—no Chinese or Japanese. Mr. Umetsu finds his customers among the Chinese and Japanese inhabitants of Vancouver, and his success is an indication of the prosperity of these industrious people from the Far East.

The parishioners annual meeting of St. Alban's church will be held on Monday evening next at 8 p. m. in the parish hall. ## Coleman Garage Re-modeling Show Room

A commodious show room is being constructed in the Morrison building, being remodelled from the part that was formerly used as a tailor shop and shoe repair shop. This will give added facilities for the showing of new cars, and doubtless with the arrival of the new Ford cars which have aroused public curiosity to a keener interest than any car yet placed on the market, this increased accommodation will be taxed to the limit. Mr. Morrison, proprietor of the Coleman Garage, states that the new car will arrive in the near future, of which further announcement will be made.

At the Theatre

The picture shown last Saturday at the Palace theatre entitled "Second to None" was seen by quite a large audience, the house being almost filled. It was received with mixed feelings, but throughout it held the intense interest of the people, so that at times one could almost have heard a pin drop. The opinion of most people was that the British blue-jacket hero would win the girl for whom there was keen rivalry between himself and his superior officer, consequently there was disappointment when the blue-jacket was killed and the officer and the lady lived happily ever after. It was a very good program rounded out with the ever popular Fox weekly news.

Next Friday and Saturday Victor Hugo's immortal drama "Les Misérables" will be shown, and should be seen by all for its historic and educational value.

Automobile Licences Increased in 1927

An increase of 8,201 in the number of automobile licences issued by provincial government licence offices throughout the province during the year 1927 is announced by the provincial secretary's department. During 1927 no less than 72,330 motor and truck licences were issued as compared with 64,129 issued in 1926.

Former Coleman School Pupil

Herman Trelle Refuses Offer to Go to the States

Notwithstanding offers that he has received from California syndicates to induce him to settle in that state, Herman Trelle of Peace River, Alberta, 1926 world's wheat champion, 1927 world's oats champion and runner-up for the 1927 world's wheat champion, does not intend to forsake Alberta.

The offers that were made to Mr. Trelle, who has just returned from California, were from some several large real estate and moving picture concerns. The latter would like to use him in the motion picture advancement of educational work among agricultural lines, using him as a sort of pivot head.

The real estate and land concerns who were trying to wean him away from Alberta were also directly concerned in movie work, too. They are establishing an ideal community, in which will be represented all phases and activities of modern social and industrial life, which will be kept in tune with the advancement of mankind generally. Chosen leaders of different industries will be the heads of communities, and the syndicate is desirous of getting Herman Trelle for the agricultural side of the community. The scheme will embrace from 5000 to 8000 acres and such men as Henry Ford are interested in it. San Francisco is pulling hard for the project, says Mr. Trelle, but it will most probably be placed in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

The Conard company will build a steamship company thousand feet in length, to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000,000.

Diversified Resources

In a recent special article on the resources of Southern Alberta, the Lethbridge Herald published a statement of the value of the various products of this part of the province. Included in them was the amount of $11,500,000 for coal and oil. With the comparatively sparse population at present living in Western Canada, one can vision that as the population increases and the demand for coal increases, the mining industry will show a steady increase and the tonnage will steadily increase every year. Combined with the development of a home market for Canadian coal to take the place of the American coal imported into Canada, inclines one to believe that there should be good times ahead for the coal industry in Western Canada.

Church Support

With the commencement of the new year, churches the same as business houses, take stock of the year's operations and try and estimate what the forthcoming year will bring forth. Church financing is something that a large number of those who enjoy the service which the church renders give very little thought to, and though often they will spend money on non-essentials or luxuries that could be got along very well without, the church is left to take what is left, which frequently is nothing.

When the moral and spiritual value of the church's work is considered in its relation to our every day business life, and the religious teaching it gives to young and old, its vital importance looms very distinctly as one of the main supports on which our civilization progresses. Yet because it is free to all, many fail to recognize the obligation they should give in a small measure of financial support in return. The old custom of giving a tenth to the Lord is well-nigh forgotten. Some give generously, while others care not a jot, but when calamity or death visits perhaps their loved ones, the church is ready with its help and solace to both the sinner and the righteous.

Church ministers should not be concerned about financial worries. This should be taken care of by the congregations to whom they minister, and it is an obligation which they assume if they desire the services of a minister.

A recent compilation by the Diocesan office of Calgary shows that the fixed charges of the Anglican church in this diocese could be met by each church family giving an average of $3.00 per year. As many are giving more than this, and yet the church has a deficit, it will be readily seen that many are avoiding their duty, and this applies to other churches as well. The layman must do his duty to his church if it is to continue to spread the gospel unto all nations, for faith without words is dead, in church as well as business enterprise. To remain a member of a lodge or fraternal organization the annual dues must be paid, but because the church imposes no such conditions, its services are taken for granted without a thought as to where or how the money is raised to enable it to carry on its ministrations.

Of Course

Does newspaper advertising pay? Ask Henry Ford. He spent $1,500,000 in a five-day newspaper campaign telling about the new car. From the smallest to the largest newspapers in Canada and the United States were used. A feature of the campaign was that newspapers were used exclusively. Just analyze what the results were. The new Ford car is the most talked of piece of merchandise ever put on the market. At least a large part of this public interest is traceable to the $1,500,000 which such a shrewd business man as Ford saw fit to pay to the newspapers. It is the biggest advertising ten-pin strike in newspaper history. It will be remembered, debated, followed as long as newspapering in its present form exists. Ford has merely added another to the list of unusual things with which he attracts public attention.—Cranbrook Courier.

Every "limited market" can be enlarged to the boundaries of advertising put behind it.

Coleman Ukrainians
Voicing ProtestMass Meeting Sunday Alleges
Poles Suppressed Relief Work

At a meeting Sunday of 62 Ukrainians living in Coleman strong protest was made against "the new outrage" committed by Polish authorities upon workers and peasants in Eastern Galicia, "over run and occupied by force of Polish nobility and ceded to their prey by the allied Council of Ambassadors."

A resolution has been drawn up appealing to the Canadian Government to raise its voice "in defence of the oppressed Ukrainian workers and peasants of Eastern Galicia."

It was alleged by the meeting of protest that the Lemberg police dissolved the committee of the Central Workers and Peasants Relief Committee for Flood Victims and arrested all of its members because this organization, which had been formed to assist victims of the great flood which inundated hundreds of towns and villages in lower Carpathia and which was financed by Ukrainian, United States and Canadian funds, was "not to the liking of the Polish authorities and was detrimental to their policy of oppression of Ukrainian workers and peasants and extermination of their organizations."

The protest demands the release of the imprisoned men and the unrestricted right of the committee to distribute relief.

S. V. Danyuk was the chairman of the meeting, the secretary being P. Bahrijczuk.

A GREAT COMMUNITY

It's the Spirit of Those who live in it!

The spirit of our town and district is reflected by the service we render to each other, by the attitude we take regarding each others welfare

No one can live an independent life today. Our comforts, our very necessities, are dependent upon the labor and services of others. Are we giving service in return? Are we helping to build a better community here at home, in our own town or village? Or, are our earnings, our wages, our time and efforts being put to the advantage of other centres like Winnipeg and Toronto?

The surest remedy for a non-prosperous or stagnant community life is: Build for your own home by thinking, talking and working always in the interests of your home town--TRADE AT HOME.

This ad. is published by this newspaper in the interests of Coleman. It is not being paid for by any merchant or organization of merchants. The Journal believes that the foundation of Community life and prosperity lies in the good will of all people in that community toward each other. But "brotherly" love and friendship does not amount to much if it is not carried over into everyday life. If, in our business relations with each other we do not "love our neighbor as ourselves" then we have not taken the first step toward the "brotherhood of man."

The Journal asks every reader to investigate carefully the business opportunities in Coleman before sending your money or giving your trade to merchants and tradesmen outside of this community. Beware of the street and house to house peddlars. They never did and never will build a better community.

Coal Business

Is Improving

The Nelson News in its annual report of mining conditions in Kootenay says:

Coal Output
	Tons	Value
Coal exported	411,811	$2,367,918
Sold in Canada	501,734	2,866,086
Colliery and local use (estimate).....	45,191	259,848
Sent to cokeovens (estimate).....	152,544	-----
Total coal produced.....	1,111,300	-----
Coke produced	94,086	940,860
Total value coal and coal products.....		$6,453,705

Coal records for both tonnage and value since the war, in the Kootenay, which in a coal respect means the Crow's Nest Pass district, have been broken in the operating year just concluded, when altogether 1,111,300 tons of coal was mined, and when the combined value of coal and coke was $6,453,705.

The year's tonnage of coal raised, the record one, is thus surpassed by 154,418 tons. The record year for total value of coal and coal products, which was 1924, before the price decline took place, is exceeded in that respect by $1,138,045.

In figuring values, the price of coal at the mine has been taken as $5.75 per ton, the same price as last year, and the price of coke, which has been stationary for some years, is reckoned at $10. These prices are applied to production figures which are available through the courtesy of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company and Corbin Coals, limited, in respect of their respective operations.

Credit for the expansion in output and in value of output is due to the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company, whose collieries at Coal Creek and Michel raised altogether 861,300 tons.

Corbin's coal output, 150,000 tons, is identical with that of the previous year.

Coke production of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company is 10,095 tons short of last year's figure.

For some years the East Kootenay coal district has been free from labor troubles, and the consequent stability has been reflected in steady and growing production. At Corbin the year has been featured by elaboration of the wet washing process with which the company began experimenting about three years ago, and a washing plant of 1000 tons' capacity is now in adjacent of the colliery, and results in improving the grade of all sizes from a quarter-inch up.

Total tonnage of coal raised in the East Kootenay field from 1924, the year of the last disastrous strike, is as follows:

1924.....	273,518 tons
1925.....	950,130 tons
1926.....	966,862 tons
1927.....	1,111,300 tons

The United Church

The United Church settles down to its regular program this week. The gatherings and services over the holiday season were all successful and happy occasions. The preparatory service on Friday evening was a real event in the life of the congregation when fourteen new members were received into full communion on profession of faith. This brings the number on the communion roll to well over the hundred mark.

The new members made their first communion on Sunday morning at a service that was well attended, and at which more than sixty persons partook of the Sacrament.

The folk of the United Church have had a good year and have started the new year with hope and expectation.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion is often merely excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians for 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize many times as much stomach acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude medicine again when you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

"Go easy on the Flinn, Captain," said Jack, laughing. "I am about to marry one."

Mr. Blackwood gave Helmi a long insistent stare, before which her eyes fell. Were all magistrates cross old men? Were they angry at her because she came from another country?

"You'll need to keep her in her place, young man; she has the eyes of a demon. They are a high-tempered, malicious lot, the Flinn, fighting, stabbing, shooting."

"We're in a hurry, Captain," said Jack, still unruffled; "so if you will get along with the business now we will be very glad to have the license here."

The old man put on a pair of round glasses and began to hunt through the incredible tangle on his table, looking for the necessary papers, swearing as he drew out each handful that failed to reveal the proper form. Someone had been interfering; he never could leave anything and find it again; they had been here yesterday or the day before. If people would only leave his things alone!

He would set a trap among his papers, and he hoped it would cut their damned fingers off.

Mr. Blackwood went to the cupboard, took out a teacup, poured himself a drink from a brown bottle, and made another attempt. After a second drink he found what he wanted.

Helmi hung to Jack's arm, terrified. "I don't like it," she said, "bad luck! It will bring it; it is so smelly—dirty and bad. He is doing, come away—go to another one. I wish we could get married nice way."

Jack tried to reassure her.

"Show me the license," the magistrate said, swinging around in his chair.

Jack unfolded it and put it in his hands.

The magistrate read the names aloud—John Ward Doran and Helmi Miler.

"Miler—Miler—He! He looked up suddenly and regarded Helmi more closely.

Again her eyes fell.

Then he turned to Jack. "I would like to speak to you alone," he said. "If Miss Miler will step outside."

Helmi went out, glad to be out of the foul air and away from the scrutiny of the old man's eyes, which reminded her uncomfortably of the only other magistrate she had ever seen.

"Mr. Doran, I take it you are a Canadian?"

Jack nodded.

"And an educated man—a college man perhaps?"

"I put three years at Queen," Jack said.

"Now you propose to marry this Flinn girl?"

"I certainly do," said Jack.

"Now, Mr. Doran, I want to point out to you the folly of this course. The girl is pretty, I'll admit, of a certain type of beauty."

Jack interrupted: "Now, look here, I am not asking for advice from you or anyone. I asked you to marry me."

"I am not sure," said Jack. "It's a young girl of Nordic type, dressed as they all dress. I never saw my girl wear these clothes."

Jack read the words again, and then handed the paper back. He had taken his resolve. "Now, you've done your duty," he said, trying to speak calmly. "I am going to marry Helmi Miler, and if you ever show this paper to anyone and try to interfere with me, I will come back and deal with you—old man though you are. Now, get your book, or whatever you go by, and come outside; the atmosphere of this house is hardly right for a wedding."

Jack had never felt such a need for fresh air—another minute in this foul place would smother him.

Outside, with the afternoon sun shining on them, and a wind from the pass blowing the leaves of paper the magistrate held in his hand, they made their civil marriage. Jack could not afterwards recall the ceremony. He only knew he had a great desire to take Helmi in his arms and protect her from every evil thing in the world.

When they began the drive home, the sun had gone behind the mountains. As the early chill of evening came down upon them Helmi was silent and distressed. She knew there was something wrong. The magistrate was her enemy like the other ones. Why were they all so cross to her? She determined to ask Jack.

"Why did he not want to marry me?" she asked, when they had reached the top of the hill and had to get to look back at the little town, which would soon be blotted out by the purpling dusk.

Jack's throat was dry and his soul sick within him, but to believe that of Helmi! He couldn't—he wouldn't. There were no dark chapters in the boy's own life. He had lived the clean, active life of a decent fun-loving youth. He knew of the evils in the world, having worked with gangs of men who spoke of their carousals without shame, but he had always been repelled by the coarseness, the vulgarity of it all. It couldn't be—Helmi was so sweet and pure as a prairie flower. If she was arrested it was some rotten mistake. No, he would not turn her down.

"Is it her picture, do you think?" asked the magistrate, looking at the young girl of Nordic type, dressed as they all dress. I never saw my girl wear these clothes."

Jack read the words again, and then handed the paper back. He had taken his resolve. "Now, you've done your duty," he said, trying to speak calmly. Delegation to Visit
Ottawa on Coal Rate
Will Meet Members in Effort to Secure Favorable Freight Rate to Ontario

A delegation of at least a dozen coal operators and members of boards of trade in Alberta will proceed to Ottawa when the federal house opens to urge that the government set a favorable rate on Alberta coal to Ontario, considerably under 87 per ton, at the forthcoming session of the House of Commons.

This action was decided upon at a meeting of the Canadian coal publicity committee, which met in Calgary on Tuesday. The Alberta delegation will be joined in Ottawa by representatives from Ontario and the Maritimes.

E. J. Garland, former member for Bow River, was present at the meeting. Mr. Garland remained over in Ottawa to attend the entire sittings of the board of railway commissioners in June last, and he gave the meeting considerable information as to what transpired at the inquiry. He confessed he did not know what action the government would adopt at the forthcoming session but expressed hope that an amiable rate would be set. He strongly emphasized that the figures produced by the railway commissioners showed conclusively that a rate could be set under 87 a ton without resorting to subsidy and which, at the same time, would leave a margin of profit to railway companies.
